Quotation of Rita Mae Brown "Language is the road map of a culture. It tells you where it's people come from and where they are going" contains a lot of wisdom.

At first sight the meaning of this words seems unclear. Every person can understand it in their own way. I think ~~at~~ that author wanted to tell that language is important and ~~shows~~ ~~about~~ it can tell a lot about a person. For example, it can show where you were born, where you lived and what your ambitions ~~is~~ <sup>are</sup> alike. If you want to study abroad or have a well-paid job in a good company <sup>in future</sup> you have to know foreign language. If you study ~~it~~ <sup>that</sup> it tells a lot about you. So, I really agree with that.

In my own life I have examples that illustrate reasons why I agree. ~~Not~~ Not much people in my town know English or other foreign language. ~~It means~~ ~~is~~ ~~that~~ On one hand it means that it will be difficult for them to ~~travel~~ <sup>can not</sup> travel. They ~~can't~~ have friends from other countries and it's impossible for them to have a bigger ~~salary~~ <sup>salary</sup>. ~~On other hand~~ So it shows that this people don't want to change anything in their life. Their native language shows where they were born. How they speak can tell a lot about ~~their~~ personality of this people.

All in all, ~~a~~ such words of wisdom guide people and help <sup>them</sup> to educate themselves to create a better world.
